In fact, financial and commercial interests could not stand it. Representations will be made to the Administration by New-York financiers to show the necessity for spreading out the payment for bonds over a longer period, and their recommendations may be adopted.

The surplus reserves of the associated banks of New-York stand at $19,000,000. As the larger part of the bonds will in any event be taken by New-York banks and their ispositors, it is apparent that the payment of one instalment on the bonds would practicatly wipe out the surplus, and the payment of the second would force the calling of louns to keen the reserve up to the legal requirements, with the result of terribly high rates for eate a stringency in money. It was also pro-sed to place syndicate gold in certain banks, lesignated as depositories, so that, while it could not be paid out, it could be counted in the reserves of the banks and thus have embled them to utilize other forms of money held in the reserves. In this way only moderate sums of money would have been taken out of circulation at different in-tervals, and there would have been no particular

6.sturbance of the money market.

Some people believe that it is the earnest desire of the Administration that the "popular loan" shall be a success. Banks, including those in the syndicate will facilitate subscriptions by making ad-vances to such of their customers as desire to buy Furthermore they will, it is authoritatively stated, loan gold to the Government in case the necessity for replenishment of the Treasury reserve arises before the date set for the opening now from what they were a year ago. Then the banks had $100,000,000 more money than at present, and money ruled at 2 per cent. For another thing, of the issue of $62,000,000 of bonds in February, 1895 one-half was placed abroad. It is now proposel to sell in the United States alone over three times as many bonds as were sold here last year. The banks and other financial institutions realize the need of aiding in the marketing of the bonds, and the bond syndicate. The explanation by President George G. Williams of its action is as follows:

theorge G. Williams of its action is as follows:

The withdrawal is an unimportant fact. Our subscription simply represented those of our depositors, and we do not want to the them up to the uncertainties of the syndicate. Our depositors merely wished to get the bonds, pay for them, and use them, while the syndicate deals with the selling of the bonds for the profits of subscribers. We lid not wish to stand in the way of any public desire for the success of a popular loan.

HOUR AND THREE-QUARTERS THE SENATORS ARE WEARY.

Washington, Jan. 9.-The House bond bill, with the free coinage substitute for it reported from the Committee on Finance, was to have engaged the ettertion of the Senate to-day, but a half hour's epeech by Mr. Baker (Rep., Kan.) in favor of an extreme application of the Monroe Doctrine and an hour and three-quarters' speech by Mr. Stewart (Pop., Neb.) of the financial question, prevented the taking up of the bond bill until so late an hour that Mr. Jones (Dem., Ark.) preferred to withhold his opening speech on it till to-morrow.

THE COFFEE EV. Mr. Stewart characterized the call for a popular oan as a cruel mockery, and he quoted fre Interview in "The New-York Sun" with a Cabinet Minister (not named) to the effect that the loan is practically underwritten by the Rothschild syndicomment have honor or credit if these outrageous speculations and peculations are allowed to pro-ceed?" The President's tactics in offering the bonds to the public for gold while practically securing them for the syndicate reminded him of a notorious character in the early days of the California gold fever, who, when the people and the animals were starving to death, tantalized a dog one day for an hour with a piece of jerked beef and then put it back in his saddlebags, saying to the starved brute: "I guess I'll give this meat to another dog." (Laughter.)

Mr. Stewart ridiculed the emergency tariff bill as something got up by the politicians to distract the people, to muddy the water; and he declared that no amount of trade protection would do the country any good until silver was admitted to the mints on the same terms as gold. On motion of Mr. Jones (Dem., Ark.) the House bond bill, with the free silver substitute, was taken up.

Mr. Chandler (Rep., N. H.) asked Mr. Jones whether he would not prefer to make his opening speech in favor of the substitute to-morrow.

Mr. Jones admitted he would, with the understanding that the bill shall come up to-morrow as the unfinished husiness.

The Senate then proceeded to executive business, and at 4:10 o clock adjourned until to-morrow.

Among the bills introduced were the following:
By Mr. Frye (Rep., Me.)—To reconvene the delegates at the international marine conference of 1999 for the further consideration of rules to prevent collisions at sea.

"Few of the people it was designed to reach understand just how to figure on their bids, and it was our purpose to help them," said he. "In my opinion there is plenty of gold noarded in safe deposit vaults and other places of safe keepins. I see confirmation of that belief in our savings hank business. Many depositors bring a portion of their money in gold coin. One person only has applied to us for the assistance offered in the advertisement. We shall try it one day more, but as it now looks from this little experience there is no doubt the popular loan idea will be a failure."

To some extent the experience of the Royal Trust Company was regarded as a test by bankers interrogated yesterday. In anticipation of the failure of the popular loan it was admitted yesterday that several banks had signed the memorandum sent out by J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., and thus became members of the syndicate. Among the subscribers and bankers generally no difference of opinion whatever is expressed. Morgan will get the bonds, they say.

THE SYNDICATE AND COLORADO'S GOLD,

Denver, Col., Jan. 9.-The story that the bond syndicate has secured control of the gold output of Colorado is most indefinite. Gold obtained by dulcing and from stamp mills is sold to the branch mint in this city. The gold-bearing ores are sold to the smelters, who, in turn, sell the bullion product to the Philadelphia mint or to brokers and reuct to the Philadelphia mint or to brokers and refiners in several cities of the East. One smelter of Denver has contracted to deliver its gold bull on in Chicago to an Aurora, Ill., refiner at the mint price; another sells at a slight premium to a New-York City refiner; a third ships its product to New-Orleans. The gold after refining is sold on the open market, and the only way the bond syndicate can get a corner on gold is to purchase all the gold offered on the daily market. It is impossible to contract a delivery of gold in advance of smelter treatment, as it is not a fixed quantity in any ore shipment, nor can the smelter managers in advance calculate upon their receipts. A smelter manager here stated yesterday that it is not impossible nor especially difficult for a syndicate to lary up all the gold in the daily offerings.

The bil of complaint presents a copy agreement. The bill of complaint presents a copy of the agreement between the roads, and charges that it is intended to combine, or pool, all traffic within its scope, and that the agreement covers all through traffic of the principal terminal points of the great trunk lines. It is urged that the agreement is unlawful, on the grounds that it extablishes not only a traffic pool, but a pool of earnings, in violation of Section 5 of the internate Commerce act, and that it is a contract or com-bination in restraint of interstate trade and com-merce, which is unlawful under the anti-trust act

The runor that the Board of Underwriters of New-York had refused to write insurance on buildings where acetylene gas was to be used, was con-firmed by an interview with Mr. W. A. Anderson, Superintendent of the New-York Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters.

"You will be correct in stating," said Mr. W. A Anderson, "that we have not approved of acetylene gas, or of the apparatus which it is proposed to employ for manufacturing it. With regard to th alternative plan suggested, of putting it up cylinders, we can only say that it is in this form equally dangerous, especially in case of transporta The Board of Underwriters in Philadelphia, where the interest in acetylene started, have not approved of the new gas from the insurance point of view, and I think if you will go to Philadelphia you will find that they think the same as I do." It was learned through other sources that the Board of Underwriters had issued a special circu-lar to the effect that they refuse insurance on of Stevens Institute, an authority on the subject.

dive, but when mixed with the air it was extremely so. "The Pintsch Light Co." said Professor Morton, "while experimenting with aretylene gas had an explosion which I helieve will be repeated very frequently under similar circumstances. They charged a cylinder with acts with only 50 Hs. pressure according to the gauge. Suddenly the head blew out and crashed through the roof, went up into the art, and then fell back, demoishing a chimney. You can see for yourself how unsaidsfactory any gauge must be in case of acetyene, for 50 Hs. pressure could hardly cause such an explantion, However, I do not believe that calcium carbide, from which acetylene gas is made, can be manufactured at a price which away is not to be exposive, the cost must be reduced to His at the scalable. It will cost at least 160 a ton. Even if it can be manufactured in such a way is not to be exposive, the cost must be reduced to His at the absolutely no nie for the new gas, for at present it is wholly in the experimental stage."

Mr. Charles Hexamer, Secretary of the Philadelphia Fire Underwriters Association, confirmed the statement of Mr. Anderson, of the New-York Board, that even in the home of acetylene, the Underwriters had not yet acetylene, the Underwriters had not yet acetylene, the Underwriters had not yet acetylene. The Underwriters had not yet acetylene, the Underwriters had not yet acetylene, the Underwriters had not yet acetylene in application. I have repided, Have the cylinders put well away from the building. The gas expands with heat and there naturally would be an explosion without this precantion." We have not been cailed upon to underwrite acetylene in an official manner for the reason that as yet none of it has been made in this country, the gas which is used in an experimental way having been imported from Germany. My position is substantially that of the New-York Board, and I fully concur with what Professor Morton says in connected with what Professor had tow true this is I cannot say, that an explosion took place in thi sive, but when mixed with the air it was extremely so. with its nineteenth convention, and is expected to be the largest and most interesting display of electrical apparatus ever made in this country. It will be held in the Industrial Bullding, which occupies the entire lot in Lexington-ave, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth sts. In connection with the exhibition there will be a series of popular lectures on elec-trical subjects, with afternoon and evening con-certs by military bands, and special spectacular effects, all of which will be open to the public.

BROKE THROUGH A WEAK BRIDGE. Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 3.—The Akron, Bedford and Cieveland Interurban Railway Company's bridge which spanned Tinker's Creek, just southeast of Bedford Township, collapsed shortly after daylight three trainmen, and attached to which was heavily laden Pennsylvania Company coal train plunged to the bed of the creek, 60 feet below William Young, one of the trainmen, was instantly killed. The other two trainmen, Haymaker and Gieb, escaped instant death. They were both badly injured, however, that Haymaker died subse quently and Gieb will die. A regular passenger cal passed over the bridge a few moments before the structure collapsed.
